

How to make a complaint

We've rebranded from Novia to Wealthtime. You'll notice that some of our products and services have kept the Novia name. So don't worry if you see both Wealthtime and Novia names in our documents. Wealthtime is a trading name of Novia Financial plc.

Our commitment to you

We always aim to provide our customers with the highest standards of service possible, but we know that sometimes things can go wrong. When this happens, we encourage customers to tell us so we can investigate and put things right where needed. We investigate all complaints about our service as required by the Financial Conduct Authority (FCA). Once a complaint has been made, we will investigate, act promptly and communicate with you transparently throughout the complaint process.

Our approach

We aim to resolve complaints as quickly as possible. Most complaints are resolved quickly and are handled by our client services team.

Occasionally, a complaint may require more time to investigate. This could be due to a disagreement over the resolution, more complicated circumstances or another reason. These complaints are investigated by our complaints team, who are independent of the staff carrying out the administration of customer accounts.

Our process

Firstly, we listen to the concerns raised by the complainant and acknowledge the complaint. If the complaint has been made by phone, we'll summarise the key points of the complaint to ensure we have the correct information. We'll then gather information from our records which may include listening to recordings of phone conversations, reviewing documentation and checking details of instructions sent to us. We may request further information if needed. We may also need to engage with any third parties that were involved in the transaction.

Our aim is to objectively and fairly assess whether anything has gone wrong and who should be responsible. We explain our findings in a final response letter that is sent to the complainant or the person complaining on their behalf. If we're unable to send a final response letter within eight weeks, we'll write to the complainant to explain our current position. We aim to issue final responses much quicker than this and we'll keep the complainant updated if it's taking longer than expected. If we've accepted responsibility for the issue, we'll confirm how we plan to resolve it. We'll explain our findings and proposals, ensuring that all outcomes are fair, clear and easy to understand.

Investors' rights

We aim to resolve all complaints in a prompt and fair way. If we don't accept the complaint against us, we will explain why in our final response letter. You have the right to refer complaints to the financial ombudsman service if either we've taken too long to respond, or you don't accept our decision. Please be aware that only eligible complainants and counterparties as defined by the FCA can appeal to the Financial Ombudsman.

Complaints process overview

We'll acknowledge your complaint promptly.

2.
We'll conduct a thorough investigation into the subject of your complaint. While we aim to resolve all complaints as swiftly as we can, please understand that some investigations take longer than others depending on factors such as the complexity of the complaint and the need to contact third parties.

We'll aim to send a final response to you within eight weeks after receiving your complaint. If we're unable to provide you with a final response within this time frame, we'll write to you explaining why and advise you when you can expect a final response.

If it's been more than eight weeks from the date of your complaint and you haven't received a final response from us, or you are dissatisfied with the final response you have received (at any stage of the process), you can write to the financial ombudsman service.
